As you know, I've been making and gifting orgonite for some time...lots and lots of orgonite ! !
At the start of the year I read about plaster orgonite on the OrgonitePlus forum....at first I was a total skeptic, but loving to expt. and trial, I gave it a go.....WHAT A SHOCK..... those first 3 pieces I made were incredibly strong, stronger than the first orgonites that I've mentioned before.
The first thing that dawned on me was that I could make these with students at school...safe, cheap, fun and best of all EMF protection for their homes.....Outstanding ! Just about every class this year has made and poured plaster orgonites and not surprisingly, are delighted to feel the tingle when held. Youngsters these days are very energy sensitive...this was the last lot....an Xmas treat .

The original info came from this rather long thread...many changes and improvements noted.

So to continue,.....my record of plasterite trials has been posted on OrganizeAustralia.

http://organizeaustralia.webs.com/apps/ ... r-organite

Needless to say...it's been a very interesting learning curve, but perhaps best of all is that you can make huge pieces really cheaply. We found that the large plasterite cones work more effciently than orgonite ones at broadcasting positive to the powergrid. One of these in your home will emit large positive orgone field, converting the harmful EMFalso, your neighbours and everyone else on that grid back to the source benefits.....powerful stuff !

The best part is that this works !...is easy and cheap..a 20kg bag is $18 and beachsand is free ! ! !
Enjoy.

That's a very pretty and neat wrap you made on your broadcaster, monsoon. Shows how it should be done.
Still haven't found that register thing.

G,day all, just returned from gifting run across half of Australia.

Stayed with parents for a while and visited other 🧑🏻‍🔬rgonisters: making and sharing techniques on organite and plasterite . People were surprised at the ease of making plaster energy devices, Simple , plaster and beach sand , although we did put in a large quartz point into each plaster broadcaster. Made about seven and installed 5 straight upand whoooshinstant orgone field !!

One lady commented how happy people in her local town seemed a couple of days later when she visited shops and supermarket which was highly unusual.....mind you , we gifted 2 local towers on adjacent hills with a couple of organite towerbusters too.

These broadcasters really change the harmful EMF to a positive orgone dramatically and are such a blessing to set up in your home or workplace.....energising the whole electricity grid !

This is one that we made....note the heavy duty extension cord...this was a 15m one....10m would have been neater, The larger cord really kicks A.

Treat yourselves and your community....make a broadcaster....so easy and so cheap ! ! !

Hi, I'm new to TheCrowHouse. My husband, son and I have been awake for a year now and boy, what a ride.

Anyway, Monsoon, you seem to be the expert on organite and now, plasterite. I'm determined to make some this weekend. Can you tell me what the power cord that's wrapped around the plasterite cone is for or does? Thank you...Eager Student!!!

G,day UniversalPeace...The plasterite works, like organite in converting DOR (deadly orgone radiation) to POR (positive orgone radiation)..It's much cheaper, not toxic (resin is pretty fumey when curing) and easy to make..I was very excited to discover this plasterite as I quickly realised that I could make it safely with students at school...I was REALLY EXCITED when I realised most of them could feel that little tingle or buzz when they held it too. !

Location: #vkh#vrs#

So, the electrical extension cord , wrapped around the cone, creates a large Electromagnetic Field, which gets converted by the plasterite to a positive radiation...but electricity has the ability to move both backwards and forwards along the line... So the theory is that this new electrical positive frequency can benefit all those using power on that same grid, right back to the generating source.. and even better, at the place its set up, a strong orgone field is present all the time..... So to set up, all you do is plug it into something that is turned on 24/7, such a a digital clock or something running on standby mode...but still having power going to it.....to easy..
Enjoy

Yo....mate from OrgonitePlus.net sent me some photos of his research with plasterite.
He is also a prolific orgonite maker, gifter and hands on researcher.
Happy to share his adventure.

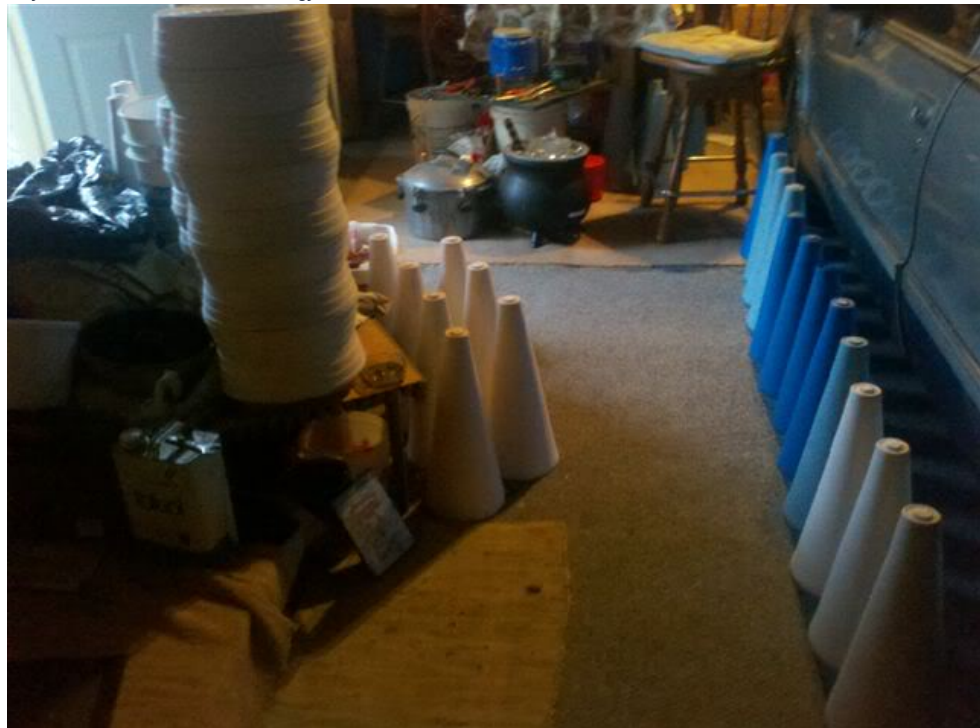

Nice crisp stars

Inside must be a very harmonius place ...once you got used to the energy ! ha

Hey what ? Alladin's cave of energy treasure.....storeroom of Chi ?...ha ha

....just love those blue cones,
The ventury column in the forground..broadcaster.... many pieces stacked up,
is a great example of theory to instant energy device..
He stated that his energy sensitivity has gone thru the roof in the last few years.

I guess there will be a few happy homes with cone ..ha ha

Good one Gifter

Yo.....G'day folks, I recently picked up an original plasterite pyramid, held for a while and enjoyed the warm tingle that spread.....mmm..
Still pumping , a year later.....remembering this is relatively new and very exciting research.
I love making Plasterite with students at the various schools I enjoy teaching.
The schools are all well gifted with orgonite.. happy environments these days.

The large tetrahedron lost it's tip....bummer.....perhaps a bit longer curing in mould.
The giant glass cone standing in the bucket...sweet...later turned into electricity grid broadcaster,
A few girls wanted to arrange a photo shoot of their masterpieces...ha ha.
At the last minute and after much discussion... fresh thinking... I was lovin'it !... ..the first orgonite gifted to that classroom , that lived by the computer area was thrown in too !

Plasterite a bonus everyone can play with.....at a minimum, without "extras"
Plaster and Beachsand !!! high Bovis readings...certainly energetic stuff worth trialing !

Enjoy and share

Hi Everyone,

I'm new to this forum but have been gifting on Kauai for the last several months.

Most of the towers there now have been gifted. So paradise is getting even better!

I'm now in Oregon.

Sure am curious about the plasterite and came across this thread on this friendly forum. It sounds like it works. Nice going! My question though is this: A fiberglass resin piece of orgonite has, of course, the crystal inside, just like any orgonite (plasterite too, I assume).

The understanding around the use of the crystal is that, as the resin dries and continues to dry and slightly outgas, the crystal is squeezed, a piezoelectric effect is created which polarizes and activates the crystal...something like that.

HERE'S THE QUESTION: Soooo.....Does the plaster also create that SQUEEZING/PIEZO ELECTRIC effect? I appreciate any helpful thoughts here.

Aloha

Chetan

G,day Chetan...excellent question,,the piezoelactric funcion in quartz..

We all know of quartz clocks...I think the p-e effect there is created by electricity.

In a standard Croft style CB, the quartz points are not in orgonite matrix,they just sit in the bottom of the pipe, obviously effected by energy, but not squeezed.

When you hold a quartz point in your hand, it turns on, tingle etc....for me anyway.

I think I am trying to say that the piezoelectric function of the quartz in shrinking resin may be a bit over emphasised although a known aspect....It seems quartz will activate in many other situations, too.

When I first started making plasterite, they had quartz and many other gems and minerals.

Techniques were refined and trialed, with the help of other experimenters from Orgonite Plus. Latest simplification is just plaster , beachsand and maybe a pinch of salt....Josh uses water that has had held many gems and minerals giving their essence to the water, homiopathy? Same with gold in water,

I still use a decent , large quartz point in all the large broadcasters(force of habit) along with beachsand etc.,

As the plaster dries it creates millions of tiny hollow air spaces...these create resonance and

I believe this resonance activates p-e effect in the quartz...just theory but.....mmm...

Beachsand seems to be just as good as quartz in plasterite pieces...in fact I always put a pinch in each orgonite with the quartz too.

Many thanks Monsoon. In hawaiian shamanism, one principle is "Effectiveness is the Measure of Truth."

Love it! So I see and read all sorts of good reports about plasterite. I find it interesting, although not as important as the previous sentence, what I found out with good 'ol wikipedia: Lime Plaster is a combination of calcium hydroxide, which is an inorganic substance; plus sand - which, as far as I can tell is both organic and inorganic. So there we have it: make orgonite out of lime plaster and you are combining organic plus inorganic material (plus a crystal added) to give the traditional formula for orgone generators. Well that is just way cool - at least to me it is. Aloha, Chetan

Hello Monsoon,

Lp #Qhz #Khuh

Are you still working with Plasterite? I also did some plasterite and I think they are great. You work with with these Plaster more then a year...what do you say if you compare did plaster with orgonite (resin and...). Do you prefer doing with plaster or with orgonite. Are the pieces you work before one year still has the same power like in the beginning?

G'day grega...still have the large broadcasters running to improve the frequency of the electricity grid. 2 here and about 8 scattered around Darwin.. they give a very pleasant orgone atmosphere. The households gifted very happy to leave them on..Cheap and easy as, to make too, Made hundreds of Tb and Hhg size with students, various classes...ages..(ha..they still get to collect gem additions)..many feel the tingle when held....me too , but I find orgonite a different vibration/tingle, quite coarse compared to the plasterite frequency...couple of my first teacup size plaster models still working fine...I've heard reports about plasterite turning DOR accumulators, not my experience...call bullshit

Must admit, I,m hooked on making orgonite...costs heaps more, but more permanent, especially personal pocket / pendant pieces and outdoor / buried gifts,,With improving techniques , they are coming out like artwork...but all little powerhouses, so Just love playing

Without doubt Plasterite is a fantastic high frequency orgone generator that anyone can whip up....dirt cheap...and you can make LARGE energetic pieces easy.... traffic cone, plaster and handfull or 2 of beachsand, extras optional..then go even bigger...if you dare...ha

So you mob...what are you waiting for ! Get out there and have a play !!!

Thanks Monsoon for all these information. I think the plaster are really great. I give to some sensitive people and they are pleasantly surprises. First I gave him the orgonite...some report at the momemt hit the electricity, the other say...like I am pushing on the ground, real raw push, feeling in the heart...very power maybe too much...but when I gave them plaster....they are imediatly calm down, they say much higher vibration, but not so powerfull like orgonite, different sensation like orgonite.

I did a lot of plaster last 20 days, when I read about the plaster, I also order EnergieKegel from Germany (a man who is doing plaster). I am big fan of plaster....

Then I read almost all post in joshpillow forum and I started. I see beachsand and plaster and thats all. I am an old fashion, still put some crystals, vibhuti, shells in plaster. I like to start doing "pillow" but i havent beachsand...I must go to the sea. Is sand from ordinary river ok? Can you tell me your formula doing orgonite, pillow and plaster ? Can you use shellac or any other protection to plaster, i use some shellac but its orange colour and orange flakes...didnt like too much, i like white one...

If you compare orgonite and plaster what are the + and - ?

Thanks, Grega from Slovenia

G'day Grega...mate, I had to look up Slovenia in the atlas...yep, not a beach in sight. The sand where ever you obtain , must be quartz origin. Dan in Bali has only volcanic and coral sands so reverted to using crushed quartz in his Pillow mix with some success.

Will look forward to your report on the Energiekegal cone . His web page shows visible vortex coming from the tip.

Your photo, appreciated... great stuff..I like the giant glass vase for cones and I recognise a couple of mould shapes..Is the digital tech some sort of frequency generator ?
Last year I painted a large cone with a layer of resin, but not the base, to see if it would waterproof. It stood outside on wire rack / bench through Cyclone Carlos and all dry season..I brought inside last night to examine...Still pumping energy, quite strong in fact...must be all that sunshine.. Appears the resin does good job protecting, as there is only a bit of minor flaking around the base. This is exciting in the fact that plasterite can be turned into outdoor gifts.
So now $18 for 20kg bag of plaster..$190 for 20litre drum of resin...big difference and that's before buying quartz , gems and rounding up swarf.... the beauty of plaster is you can make huge pieces...very energetic, cheaply and easily..if you break a piece, you just incorporate it into the next one...I haven't used pillow ,plaster and orginte in one piece yet... plenty of orgonite and pillow as seen in recent photos and put a couple of Tb's into plaster cone...wasn't to sure on any difference there.Pretty sure it would be a good combo.

I am 120 kilometrs away to the sea...not too far...I can get some beachsand,yes it is quartz origin. I hardly wait to do some Pillows. Energiekegel is in my room and he is working his job well...i dont see some aura 😊 but maybe this day will come...

Yes I have some silicon mould like you...pyramid, diamond, heart and some other like UFO, when ever I go to the shop I look for some interesting mould 😊, force of habit. I usually programming orgonite and plaster with frequency...like 528hz, I gave them all to listen some music...they are consciousness being, they like beautiful things. I am programming also with Sanjeevini healing cards and some radionics program. Depend how I feel about these. The basic thing is sun, sun, sun...

The "orgonite people" are very sceptic about plaster, but I enjoy doing plaster and receive this beautiful energy. So people,start doing plaster 🐛

G'day grega....bit of an update..

I decided to give my large radionic plasterites a couple of coats of resin and set loose outside. Weatherproof. Felt they were being smothered in my metal shed.

Just set in place and painted a couple of times, only the outside surfaces. It is made with alternate layers, the thinner ones contain paramagnetic rock. (see later photo record) The cone has large quartz..etc.

The next cone came out with green tinge, due to addition of copper powder, when painted with resin. However it's a favourite. When curing, was hard to go near it...very strong !

It has a huge 5 inch quartz point in the middle. many sea shells, sand ,gems, etc , etc but in the top 1/3 , a complete set of gems,the synergy of 12, from the Book of Stone...$$$ and Ebay.

I decided to make something that kicked arse, and it did. ..!!! Used to sit next to computer desk, where just holding the top, would bring on the hand tingle that rose to the forehead...pleasant enough in small doses...ha.

It's future home, a palm fringed rockery, next to a family pool, in sun and blue sky.

Think I'll ask them both, being radionics devices,..to help sylphs rule the sky...clean up when needed..
 Here the photo record share,
http://s814.photobucket.com/albums/zz63 ... s%20Trial/
 Hope you all trial plasterite.....more than a bit of fun...beneficial energy...especially broadcasting the power grid,..wow !
 Cheers,,Enjoy

plasterite broadcasters, for the electricity grid appears to deter insects in the home.!!!

After setting up the first broadcaster, I noted I was no longer plagued with ants trailing in after any scraps, even while preparing a meal !...I quizzed my research mate . He thought a while and confirmed he hadn;t had ant problems for a while too, then tried to analyse other reasons...ha ha...typical !

The mate I lobbed in with, on the Queensland coast, similarly has had no ant problems since his broadcaster was set up last Christmas.....he took me around and showed the trails and holes in the building , that the boys used to regularly poison to no avail or temporary relief.

I posted the same on Orgoniteplus forum and Josh replied, not only ants, but fleas (brought in by pets) and cockroaches too !!!

So...orgone field in house...energising the electricity grid and now insect repellent....how good is that ??? !!!

I've made and gifted more than a dozen of these beauties...easy, cheap and very effective .

The brown models below are painted with shellac as a natural protective layer....but not necessary..

Recently knocked up 3 more plaster broadcasters.
 One went to a lady in the neighbourhood.
 who is plagued by ants...she was somewhat sceptical, but ants seem to be thinning out....we'll see what happens.
 Regardless, the whole electrical grid is getting a cleanup. !
 The other two awaiting new homes.

the bare one was a bit wonky...the traffic cone had been run over a couple of times resulting in a non symmetrical cone....Still works well

Here;s the ingredients

Along with water and casting plaster was beachsand, a three inch quartz point, a little orgonite cone and a couple of little resin life pillow pocket pieces.
 Also a handful of mixed beads...quartz family,
 I found the plaster and sand mixed to a fluffier consistency by stirring/vortexing counter rotating clockwise, then counterclockwise, and repeating for about 3 minutes, before pouring into the mould in one go....,the orgonite cone in straight away, followed by the mixed beads , then the quartz point about 2 minutes later as the mix began to thicken, then resin pillow pucks that had to be pushed down a bit, After about 15 minutes I scrape a bevel around the edge of the mould, This helps stop breakage of the edged later when demoulded.

Easy to make,,,great results for household and community
,,,can even breakdown formulae to simplest , plaster, beachsand and water.

Just plug in the power point, the other end into something that is on all the time,,,24 / 7
A fridge, entertainment unit, clock radio , whatever.
The broadcaster will create a strong but pleasant orgone field .
Cheers

gr8 work monsoon would you be able to give us the proportion of plaster (I believe you are talking of 'plaster of paris' that is used in halse ceilings) to sand. Won't you need metal shavings or anything else. What about waterproofing it?

G'day ashishmazmudar...yes.....plaster of paris..or casting plaster , for every 3 cups of plaster, a cup of sand though often put a bit more sand in...no metal shavings needed though have used copper powder in a few mixes and turned the plaster a faint green tinge when I waterproofed a cone for outdoor use..I painted several layers of polyester resin, letting harden in between coats

Great thread Monsoon, I'd not heard of plasterite before, I've been wanting to make orgonite for some time but can't get swarf around here.

Instead I have collected some old electric motors with a view to cutting off the copper windings as a substitute, but now I've seen your work it looks like a better way to go 😊

Have you or anyone you know built Chem Busters with plasterite ? If so how did you get on ?

G'day Spiral...

A bloke from the states (gifter) sent me some photos of his CB's he had problems with posting photos ...a couple of them had plasterite as the base and gave huge a bovis reading...the reference is in pages 3 and 4 of the thread below...cutting edge stuff !!

<http://orgoniteplus.net/Forum/viewtopic.php?f=5&t=849>

It's a great idea and would certainly be cheaper to construct...

Might just have to give that one a go when finished traveling

Cheers

Thanks Monsoon, Its going to take me a while to get up to speed with all that, its gone way past the Croft stuff I was aware of.

Just one thing, what is a "Bovis meter" and where can I get one ?

Yeah good one....wish I could buy one too ha ha.

No, it's done using a pendulumdowsing !

I think they use a chart with different scales.

remember reading or seeing it in the orgoniteplus.net forum somewhere

Oh ! well we've got a few of those, makes sense really now you come to say so.

Is it possible to dowse sand to see if it contains quartz, as there are other crystalline rocks that would look the same , such as feldspar ?

Dowsing with a pendulum , for me is easy...first found out you could sex seeds, when I was into biodynamic agriculture...a female, or strong producing seed spins the pendulum clockwise, a male or less productive seed gives a back and forth motion. A dead seed....no movement
Later I needed to find which end of a quartz was the positive point and read somewhere to try a battery to get which spin of the pendulum was positive.
For me it turned out in both cases that positive spins CW , negative CCW or back and forth.

All my orgonite spins CW

Plasterite spins CCW

Not sure what the means but I find it very interesting

I should hunt up a Bovis chart and play

I'm in the southern hemisphere,,,,apparently it's the opposite in the NH

The Life Pillow , like plasterite, spins CCW and by passing the LP over orgonite changes the spin to CCW ...!

Similarly it changes the spin (to less harmful) of food and water etc.....Ref:
viewtopic.php?f=11&t=3590

So....with the pendulum..you can ask questions , the answer giving either a positive or negative spin....by holding over the target Best way is to try a AA battery or similar to find which way the positive end spins for you.....then you are away !

Cheers

Well I collected a battery, some quartz, a lump of feldspar, some sand from the river & some building sand.

#p# #Q#h#z# #K#h#h#

It worked just as you said; (I'm in NH)

battery +ve ; CCW

Quartz; CCW

Both types of sand ; CWW

Feldspar; CW

I'm going to get some double point quartz off the internet and have a go, wont be able to add orgonite though, it'll have to be just plaster of paris, sand & quartz

G'day all... though I make heaps of orgonite for gifting and homes, phones and personal pieces , I'm still a BIG fan of plasterite. The main pieces are the large traffic cone size wrapped in extension cords, to clean up electricity in the home and also broadcast to the grid... virtually me on my gifting run across Oz has scored one of these ... one fellow who was quite energy sensitive was quite astounded (he could feel it within a coup set one up in his kitchen that was plugged in between powerpoint and his fridge, thus running 24/7... a natural sceptic surprised...loved it ..ha ha

However. on orgoniteplus,(see previous posts) the forum where I discovered plasterite , a relative new comer to the game has had astounding results His commentary is long..VERY long and somewhat poetic ... if you can get through it and read between the lines , you'll get his drift... For me , his message is totally inspiring to make more ...more BIGGER cones ...

Of course there's always a bit left over to knock up some Hhg's to share around

After all , a 20 kg bag of Boral plaster in Australia is under $20... beachsand free, a decent quartz point and handful of mixed gems and crystals won't be what a rush !!!

Here's sunflowerbelgium's post...enjoy

http://orgoniteplus.net/Forum/viewtopic ... 7&start=10

In fact he's made extra posts since them ... worth a look too !

Cheers

G'day allthere's been quite a few folk exploring the exciting energy of plaster orgonite of late ...and a few new and innovative techniques explored

Firstly , an interesting video tutorial with great sound track too

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=C7Wl6gu...e=youtu.be>

Next, I came across this vid , the author using concrete piecesI must say , I do not agree with most of his philosophies , but the techniques of using t had me fascinated and excited ,

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=7JcKcBuGuPQ#t=2147>

So I knocked up a quick throw together,, using plaster orgonite techniques of course..... making the tetrahedrons in the corners of cardboard boxes.... but wow...surprisingly energetic ...!!!

Then , through a Face Book group exploring plaster orgonite, I found this Vid showing how to make very smooth tetrahedron forms...used in Bernoulli array beauty !!!

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=QXSCd9luSxY>

Next job was to hunt down an older style plastic crate, and took to it with an angle grinder..... this gave me two tetrahedron moulds , .So after a couple Bernoulli Ring array.....WOW ... now this did blow me away with energy . easily felt standing nearby....I did a Bovis reading that spun up around the 40 mark.....Whooooa ! now that is something !!!

Each piece weighs around 7 kilos and about 40cm across at the longest length.

The photo shows the plaster Bernoulli Ring and the two plastic moulds used with the remains of the plastic crate

So if you are after a cheap, but extremely strong orgone device, this could be the one to have a play with

Cheers and enjoy
